BIOGRAPHY

Dayamí Hayek was born in Havana, Cuba, in 1973. After studying at the University of Havana, she moved to Spain and lived in Sitges for fifteen years. Her work in interiors and renovation introduced her to a wide range of materials that later became central to her practice. Based in Lausanne, she creates colourful, critical and hopeful works addressing the environment, women's rights, peace, racism and technology. In 2022 she opened FRESA y CHOCOLATE in Vevey: a gallery, studio, cultural space and meeting place for the arts.
